

K-Love is an awesome national station that I would like to see stay in Austin, TX. As a local resident, it brings me peace of mind and it is great to have a station that continually promotes what is good and family friendly. If K-Love were not here, a local station might have programming that did not promote what was good. K-Love provides programming that is in the best interest of the public because people can depend on it's consistent goodness and caring staff who are always available. Not many local stations offer to talk and pray with their listeners. K-Love is a very unselfish station that is an assett to any community.
